LOWERS WIFE TO SAFETY THROUGH UPPER WINDOW

Twilight Man Saves Unconcious Woman From Flames

SEVEN CHILDREN ESCAPE

Mother is Victim of Smoke When Abrams' Home Catches Fire

In a fire at 8 o'clock Sunday morning which destroyed her home at Twilight and all its contents, Mrs. Harry Abrams had a narrow escape from death when overcome by smoke on the second floor. She was rescued by her husband who lowered the unconscious woman on a rope from the second floor. The loss is estimated at $2,500. Mr. Abrams stated that he had no insurance on the building or household goods.

Starting the kitchen fire Mr. Abrams had gone to the barn to feed the stock. Just a few minutes later he was startled by hearing his children cry out that the house was afire. Rushing back he found that his seven children had successfully escaped from the hause in their night clothes but that his wife had not got out.

Fighting his way through the smoke he found her lying senseless in a bedroom where she had gone to get clothing for the children before leaving the burning building.

Tying a rope around her body Mr. Abrams lowered his wife to the ground from a window and then by wrapping a blanket about himself succeeded in groping his way down the stairway.

The fire was discovered by one of the children, who was awakened by the smell of smoke. The blaze had gained considerable headway and nothing could be saved from the building. Mr. Abrams was formerly a resident of Charleroi and he and his family are being cared for by his friends here.

Mr. Abrams was just negotiating for the sale of his home and farm of 32 acres and had all but completed the deal Saturday.

TEST IS MADE OF POWDER

Substance Taken From "Infernal Machine" Does Not Light

THOUGHT TO BE PRANK

Although they had decided not to tamper with it, curiosity got the better of local postoffice authorities Sunday and the powder taken from the supposed infernal machine received here by Gov. J. K. Tener was tested. Utterly harmless in its present state the powder would not ignite, but gave forth an evil odor like phosphate. There seems not a shred of doubt but that the "infernal machine" was sent as a prank at the Governor's expense.

The test of the substance was made in Postmaster J. E. McCardle's private office by Assistant Postmaster Dennis Oates. Two newspaper men were the only spectators.

A small quantity of the powder was placed on a safe. Carefully a lighted match was touched to the powder and the four present watched eagerly to see the stuff "go off." But the powder showed no indication of firing. Then it was dampened and a match touched to it. A bad odor arose, but that was all.

Assistant Postmaster Dennis Oates expects to have a chemist make a test to learn the nature of the powder taken from the contrivance.

DR. DIXON ADVISES EARLY SHOPPING AS HEALTH SAFEGUARD

State Department Head Makes Timely Suggestions for Instructions of Holiday Shoppers

If the several hundred thousand women in Pennsylvania, who will crowd the shops between now and Christmas, would stop and think, "what does it mean to me to shop early," there would be hundreds who would escape the penalty of exhausted nerves and many lives would actually be saved. Even a hasty review of the usual conditions a few days prior to the holidays is a sufficiently convincing argument to the laymen and the opinion of the physician gives this added weight.

Dr. Dixon, Commissioner of Health gives reasons why all who can should avoid the final rush of Christmas shopping. He says, "the ideal time for shopping is in the early morning when the vitality is at its highest point in the twenty-four hours and exertion is least felt. At this time the judgment is clearer and one is better able to make decisions involving matters of taste and economy. Under crowded conditions the air becomes vitiated and the vitality of the individual correspondingly lowered. In an exhausted physical state the shopper is in greater likelihood of suffering from the ill effects of the poisons breathed in and if in contact with communicable disease more apt to become infected. The excitement will also have a deleterious effect in any case where there is a weakness of the vital organs.

"The possibility of catching cold and bringing on some of the many attending evils is greatly increased both in the places of public gathering, in the cars and other transportation facilities, unusually overcrowded at this period

"Wraps should be removed on entering superheated buildings and replaced on going out. Every care should be taken to avoid excessive perspiration as exposure to cold suddenly checking it, causes congestion.

"Small children should never be taken through the crowded shops when it is possible to avoid it is the same conditions which obtain for their elders apply to them in an even greater degree."

STATE ISSUES BOOK OF LAWS REGARDING SHOOTING OF GAME

Much Valuable Information to Hunters Contained in Digest of Laws--Forestry Matters Regulated

The recent issue of the "Digest of the Game, Fish and Forestry Laws" of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shows some important legislation in this branch during the administration of Governor John K. Tener. During the recent session of the Legislature twelve acts were passed relating directly to the game, fish and forestry laws of the State. Three of these acts related to game two to fish and seven to forestry.

The first of the game laws makes some radical changes. It fixes the open season for hunting gray, black or fox squirrels, rabbits, ruffed grouse, wild turkey and quail, as well as other varieties of pheasants, from November 1 to December 15. Previously the open season varied for this class of game and the new act makes it uniform. Raccoons, which previously were in the class of outlawed "varmits," are now protected as a game animal, and can only be killed during the months of September, October, November and December. Penalties, of course are provided for the violation of any of these laws.

Another game law is designed to give additional protection to waterfowl by limiting the number of decoys used in shooting, and prohibiting shoting such fowl before sunrise. An act relating to the taxation and licensing of dogs is also included in the game laws. This act requires dogs to wear collars and tags, the latter to be issued by the county comisioners. The tags are furnished to the tax collectors by the county commissioners, who give them out and collect the taxes on the dogs. It is the duty of any constable to kill all dogs not wearing tags.

Two laws designed for the further protection of fish were also enacted by the last Legislature, and bear Governor Tener's signature of approval. One of these is to prohibit the use a gill nets of more than thirty meshes deep in any of the lake waters of more than five thousand acres in extent over which the State has judisdiction. The other law provides that haul seine may be used in tidewater streams from September 1 to March 31. Meshes of such seine however, must not be less than three inches stretched measure while being fished, or one and one-half inches from knot to knot while being fished.

The first of the forestry acts is a measure to protect the State forest reserves. Penalties are provided to guard against damage of any sort to the forests purchased and set aside by the State and to protect the trees therein from damage and destruction. Penalties are imposed for violations of these laws.

Another forestry act empowers the Federal Government to acquire National forest reserves in the State with the right to regulate and control the same. There is also an act to protect shade and fruit trees growing along highways, streets or roads and one empowering the Department of Forestry to grant rights of way through State lands.

Still another important measure is an act to protect trees and woodland anywhere in the State from injury, destruction and removal. This embraces all private property, and stringent penalties are provided particularly to guard against fire. This law is a trespass law in effect where trespassers do damage to trees and forests of private owners.

The last two acts are specific. One is regarding the proposed purchase of forest reserves in Jefferson, Clarion and Forest counties, and providing for a commission to examine and report on the property in question. The other act is to provide efficient and practical means to control and eradicate the chestnue blight that is damaging and destroying the chestnut trees in the State.

A MATTER OF HEALTH.

State Commisioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon gives emphasis to the theory, "Do your Christmas shopping early," by a statement released to the press Sunday, in which he makes a practical declaration on the economic value of such a course on the standpoint of sanitation and personal health. Heretofore the health and well-being of the salespeople have been the chief point of consideration in the endeavor to induce people to make their Christmas purchase gradually and not at one fell swoop. Dr. Dixon, however, points out that the shopper also jeopardizes her health in the mad football rushes on the last days before Christmas, and runs a risk of infection form communicable diseases besides.

Those who remember when smallpox was an epidemic in the Pittsburg district some years ago will readily see how Dr. Dixon's advice is applicable. At that time the disease raged extensively in a mild form, and few of the doctors recognized it. The virulent type did not break out to any great extent until after the holidays, when it was no doubt spread widely by the crowds of Christmas shoppers. This danger, however, is not the worst. Crowding and excitement in vitiated atmosphere, clad in heavy wraps and sudden exposure to low temperature after leaving the stores while in a state of prespiration exposes the shopper to risks that are highly dangerous.

Those who must wait until the last pay day before making their Christmas purchases can carefully plan a list beforehand, and then do as Dr. Dixon suggests—shop early in the morning before the crowd becomes dense. Then, as he says, human vitality is strongest, and the mind is in better condition to decide upon what is wanted. In addition to helping out the salespeople and the merchants by shopping early, the shoppers will preserve their own health and well-being which in the aggregate is a big economic factor to society.

NO TARIFFTINKERING

It is being admitted now even by the leading Democrats of the nation that there will not be any tariff legislation in Congress before the coming Presidential election. The Democrats realize that many of their representatives in Congress are opposed to carelessly legislating on this important question. They also realize that during the recent extra session of Congress no satisfactory tariff measure was proposed on their side of Congress and that no satisfactory tariff legislation may be expected from them. Many of the members of their party are so radical as to be regarded as dangerous in framing legislation so important to the entire country.

On the other hand the Republicans in Congress are pledged to abide by the recommendation of the tariff board, a Republican proposition. That board was created by the Republicans. Its purpose is to take the tariff out of politics and to prevent regular and continual business disturbances through tariff agitation. The Democrats of course will refuse to listen to any recommendations made by the tariff board and President Taft, of course will refuse to approve any tariff legislation not in accord with the recommendations of that board.

It is safe to assume, therefore that there will be no tariff legislation by the next Congress and so encouraging is that thought that business is forging ahead and fairly booming notwithstanding the general fear of threatened tariff legislation.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A local minister who when he hands in a notice for publication always presents it in neatly type-written copy in good English, was the other day complimented by the busy editor on the neatness of his copy, which required little if any editing. In reply the minister said:

"This is a matter I learned to appreciate early in my career. I used to hand in a bundle of notes scrawled on a slip of paper, merely giving dates or time and place of events, with every possible word or term abreviated. I noticed that my stuff got scant mention, and was always put in the least possible wording. At first I thought the editor had it in for me. One time I wanted something to appear in a more extended form, and I wrote it out carefully, complying with the style of the paper as nearly as I could and handed it in. I was extremely gratified to see my story appear verbatim. The next notice I handed in I wrote out as carefully as the first. It also appeared exactly as written. Since then I never have any trouble in getting what I want printed in the form desired. Of course I take care not to string my stuff out, as I have made somewhat of a study of the inside workings of newspaper offices, and I find by experience that anything a minister sends in will be given its full news value if written in good shape. But is the minister believes in letting the other fellow do the work his stuff will never get what he thinks it's worth."

"My father, who was a Scotchman, used to tell a story of how he was rewarded once when a small boy for returning to the owner a well filled pocketbook that had been lost," said a Charleroi business man. "The owner was an old Scotch farmer who was noted for his closeness. He advertised that he had lost his pocketbook and when my father found it he was in high glee, thinking he would get at least a shilling for the return of the lost property. Meeting the old farmer on the road while enroute to his residence, my father restored the missing pocketbook. Examining the contents to make sure they were intact, the old farmer said:

"Thank ye, ma lad. If ye happen ta be passin' oor farmhouse, step ye in an' I'll gi ye a gude drink of soor milk."

His wife was summoned from Charleroi.

Bubble Fountain Attracts.

One of the most attractive of the advertising features of the Brussels exposition is a soap bubble fountain, which has been designed and built by a prominent soap manufacturing concern of Europe. It is the only one in existence. It produces a continual flow of bubbles, delightfully colored, in which all the delicate hues of the rainbow are to be found. When illuminated at night the effect produced by the multi-colored electric lights completes a sight which appeals strongly to the artistic mind. The general appearance gives then the illusion of a flowing mass of sparkling diamonds. The fountain produces 17,600 bubbles a minute, and 25,344,000 bubbles are obtained from a pound of soap.

The Hand Losing Its Cunning.

We learn through a French paper that we are in danger of losing the use of our hands. The assertion is made by a medical authority, and a little reflection will lead us to pause before scouting this theory. Our hands in effect become less cunning and adroit through our availing ourselves of every mechanical appliance at our disposal. In times past women were skillful embroiderers and workers of lace, but the sewing machine has deteriorated the work of the hands and fingers, because, in the case of the mercenary worker, it renders a better return for her labor. By degrees the hands become stubborn, and in time, says the authority before cited, there will be nothing for the ten fingers to do.

The Cardinal's Coach.

A cardinal must not walk in the streets of Rome or in the populous districts beyond the walls. He goes in a closed carriage drawn by ambling and well-groomed black horses. Before the loss of the temporal power the carriages were scarlet, drawn by four or six horses, surmounted by a gilt railing resembling a crown. Valets and coachmen wore gorgeous liveries and three other carriages conveyed the secretaries and chaplains of his eminence. These equipages were laid down in 1670, and some of them may be seen taking farmers and their families to the Roman market. Vegetables are packed on the roof and where the valets stood behind.

Discouragement.

"So you have quit laughing at your wife's hats?" "Yes," replied Mr. Growcher. "The funnier they seem to me the more convinced she is that they must be correct in style."

Not to Be Improved On.

It was about 1720, at Amsterdam, that Fahrenheit made his first thermometer, which has served as a model ever since.

THANKSGIVING DISHES.

We like to have as much of the preparation for the feast day done before hand as possible. The turkey may be stuffed the day before and is greatly improved by standing, as it is better flavored with the seasoning.

The cranberry sauce may be made and molded the day before, and of course the mince meat has been prepared and the pumpkin pies may be made, so that on Thanksgiving there are less things to prepare and the time may be better used enjoying one's friends.

The dishes to be prepared should be carefully gone over as to cost; an elaborate dinner for one's friends that means pinching for a month to recuperate is not worth the expense of time, labor and money.

Celery may be washed and wrapped in a damp cloth and kept nicely for several days.

Cranberry frappe is a delicious way of serving the winter berry.

A salad which is both attractive and good to eat and one which may be prepared the day before is: Lettuce with Sherry's dressing.

Wash head lettuce and wrap in a towel, place in a cool place. When ready to serve pour over the following dressing, which will keep for two weeks or longer if kept in the ice box: Take two tablespoonfuls of chopped green pepper, one tablespoonful of chopped red pepper, a tablespoonful of parsley chopped, half a small-sized Spanish onion, a quarter of a cup of vinegar, a tablespoonful of powdered sugar, a tablespoonful of salt, and three-fourths of a cup of the best olive oil. Shake in a pint mason jar for five minutes and let stand at least an hour before using.

The dinner may begin with a soup, a cocktail or with a canape, although none are necessary with a turkey dinner.

Interested in American System.

While visiting Vienna recently, the ex-shah of Persia, Mahomet Ali, devoted much time to the inspection of great business and manufacturing establishments, and on one of these tours, made under the guidance of a large manufacturer, and with little Prince Mahomet Mirza, they were joined at the office of a newspaper by an American with whom the ex-monarch entered into earnest conversation. He was deeply interested in what the American told him about commercial affairs in the United States, but what interested him most, said one of the party, was "our election system, as to which he made searching inquiry."

Like a Dream to Her.

Margaret Andoux, the Paris dressmaker, whose book has attracted the attention of great scholars all over the world, worked at her trade for the sum of 60 cents a day. She left the country and went to Paris with but a few cents in her pocket, and considered herself lucky to have arrived at the dignity of something over half a dollar a day wage. Her book, "Marie Claire," made her several thousand dollars, and now the poor dressmaker may rest from her labors for awhile.

THE REASONABLE WAY

Strong vigorous men, women and children hardly ever catch cold—it's only when your system is run down and vitality low that colds and coughs can get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cough is to build up your system again.

Mr. Patrick Wren of N. Birmingham, Ala., knows about this. He says, "I caught a bad cold a year ago and had a bad cough for a long time, but Vinol relieved it completely and built up my health. Vinol is the best medicine I ever used or heard of for coughs and colds."

This splendid cod liver and iron remedy does not smell or taste like cod liver oil, but is so delicious that children love to take it. Yet it has the strengthening value of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood-building iron.

Chronic bronchitis yields to Vinol because it builds up the system in all weakened and rundown conditions. You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not all we say. Piper Bros., Druggists, Charleroi, Pa.

CHARLEROI LOSES TO JOHNNIES

Fast Game Goes Wrong to Cherub Five on Johnstown Floor

LOCAL FIVE PLAY FAST

The Charleroi basketball team in the Central League was severely chastised Saturday night at Johnstown by Kinkaide's men. One of the fastest games of the season, the only troublesome thing to the Charleroi passers was the score.

The first half, which ended 35 to 12, in favor of the locals, was decidedly fast and snappy with good playing, team-work and shooting, both teams featuring. The play throughout was the cleanest of the season. Johnstown outclassed its opponents in shooting, passing and team work and kept Charleroi on the defensive. Despite the big difference in the score, Charleroi put up a good game.

Charleroi opened strong in the second half and threatened to pass Johnstown but were prevented from any such act by the fine pasing and shooting of Johnstown's five. Lineup:

Johnstown—70		Charleroi—36
Fogarty	F	Adams
Newman	F	J. Brown
Keenan	C	Dolin
Wohlfarth-Pickells	G	Pfeiffer
Kinkaide	G	A. Brown

DONORA WINS GAME AND THE CHAMPIONSHIP

While 1,500 spectators shivered and watched and plowed through the mud in the wake of the combatants, the Donora Works and the Monessen All Stars football teams battled for gridiron supremacy, and incidentally a purse of $500, of the upper Monongahela valley Saturday afternoon. Donora won by a single touchdown made by its captain and quarterback, Roy Furlong, and was proclaimed champion.

Players wallowing in mud and the slippery ball giving an imitation of an eel, the game progressed very unsatisfactorily so far as touchdowns were concerned. Several times the pigskin was advanced by the respective teams to their opponents goal line, but it was booted out again almost as soon as it made its appearance.

In the first quarter of the first half a bit of Donora lightning struck Monessen in the form of Roy Furlong. The ball eluded the grasp of just 20 graspers and lit in that of No. 22, which happened at that phychological moment to be Furlong. Fleet as the wind he broke away from the neighborly goal posts and with a slipperiness equaled only by that of the ball, slid through the Monessen line like a shyster politician through the intricacies of the law. On and on he sped with a half dozen Monessen players clinging close to his heels. Without being molested he succeded in reaching the Monessen goal line and planted the ball behind it and thereby won the game. During the rest of the struggle neither team could gain a lasting advantage and the struggle ended. Lineup:

Among The Passers

Somebody got their dope mixed down on the Pittsburg papers last week with the effect that Charleroi was given a better average than it should have had. Sunday's papers were right.

Washington will make its first appearance at Southside this week and will have a new man in their lineup, none other than Wright an easterner whom Johnstown has been after for three seasons.

The schedule this week will be:

Tuesday—Uniontown at Johnstown; Washington at Southside.

Wednesday—Southside at Connellsville; Uniontown at Charleroi.

Thursday—Thanksgiving Day—Southside at Washington, two games, afternoon and evening; Connellsville at Johnstown; Charleroi at Uniontown.

Friday—Southside at Charleroi; Johnstown at Connellsville.

Saturday—Johnstown at Southside; Connellsvilee at Washington.

Charleroi is outweighed by practically every team but speed considered we guess we can still hold the medal.

LOWERS WIFE TO SAFETY THROUGH UPPER WINDOW

Twilight Man Saves Unconcious Woman From Flames

SEVEN CHILDREN ESCAPE

Mother is Victim of Smoke When Abrams' Home Catches Fire

In a fire at 8 o'clock Sunday morning which destroyed her home at Twilight and all its contents, Mrs. Harry Abrams had a narrow escape from death when overcome by smoke on the second floor. She was rescued by her husband who lowered the unconscious woman on a rope from the second floor. The loss is estimated at $2,500. Mr. Abrams stated that he had no insurance on the building or household goods.

Starting the kitchen fire Mr. Abrams had gone to the barn to feed the stock. Just a few minutes later he was startled by hearing his children cry out that the house was afire. Rushing back he found that his seven children had successfully escaped from the hause in their night clothes but that his wife had not got out.

Fighting his way through the smoke he found her lying senseless in a bedroom where she had gone to get clothing for the children before leaving the burning building.

Tying a rope around her body Mr. Abrams lowered his wife to the ground from a window and then by wrapping a blanket about himself succeeded in groping his way down the stairway.

The fire was discovered by one of the children, who was awakened by the smell of smoke. The blaze had gained considerable headway and nothing could be saved from the building. Mr. Abrams was formerly a resident of Charleroi and he and his family are being cared for by his friends here.

Mr. Abrams was just negotiating for the sale of his home and farm of 32 acres and had all but completed the deal Saturday.

TEST IS MADE OF POWDER

Substance Taken From "Infernal Machine" Does Not Light

THOUGHT TO BE PRANK

Although they had decided not to tamper with it, curiosity got the better of local postoffice authorities Sunday and the powder taken from the supposed infernal machine received here by Gov. J. K. Tener was tested. Utterly harmless in its present state the powder would not ignite, but gave forth an evil odor like phosphate. There seems not a shred of doubt but that the "infernal machine" was sent as a prank at the Governor's expense.

The test of the substance was made in Postmaster J. E. McCardle's private office by Assistant Postmaster Dennis Oates. Two newspaper men were the only spectators.

A small quantity of the powder was placed on a safe. Carefully a lighted match was touched to the powder and the four present watched eagerly to see the stuff "go off." But the powder showed no indication of firing. Then it was dampened and a match touched to it. A bad odor arose, but that was all.

Assistant Postmaster Dennis Oates expects to have a chemist make a test to learn the nature of the powder taken from the contrivance.

DR. DIXON ADVISES EARLY SHOPPING AS HEALTH SAFEGUARD

State Department Head Makes Timely Suggestions for Instructions of Holiday Shoppers

If the several hundred thousand women in Pennsylvania, who will crowd the shops between now and Christmas, would stop and think, "what does it mean to me to shop early," there would be hundreds who would escape the penalty of exhausted nerves and many lives would actually be saved. Even a hasty review of the usual conditions a few days prior to the holidays is a sufficiently convincing argument to the laymen and the opinion of the physician gives this added weight.

Dr. Dixon, Commissioner of Health gives reasons why all who can should avoid the final rush of Christmas shopping. He says, "the ideal time for shopping is in the early morning when the vitality is at its highest point in the twenty-four hours and exertion is least felt. At this time the judgment is clearer and one is better able to make decisions involving matters of taste and economy. Under crowded conditions the air becomes vitiated and the vitality of the individual correspondingly lowered. In an exhausted physical state the shopper is in greater likelihood of suffering from the ill effects of the poisons breathed in and if in contact with communicable disease more apt to become infected. The excitement will also have a deleterious effect in any case where there is a weakness of the vital organs.

"The possibility of catching cold and bringing on some of the many attending evils is greatly increased both in the places of public gathering, in the cars and other transportation facilities, unusually overcrowded at this period

"Wraps should be removed on entering superheated buildings and replaced on going out. Every care should be taken to avoid excessive perspiration as exposure to cold suddenly checking it, causes congestion.

"Small children should never be taken through the crowded shops when it is possible to avoid it is the same conditions which obtain for their elders apply to them in an even greater degree."

STATE ISSUES BOOK OF LAWS REGARDING SHOOTING OF GAME

Much Valuable Information to Hunters Contained in Digest of Laws---Forestry Matters Regulated

The recent issue of the "Digest of the Game, Fish and Forestry Laws" of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shows some important legislation in this branch during the administration of Governor John K. Tener. During the recent session of the Legislature twelve acts were passed relating directly to the game, fish and forestry laws of the State. Three of these acts related to game two to fish and seven to forestry.

The first of the game laws makes some radical changes. It fixes the open season for hunting gray, black or fox squirrels, rabbits, ruffed grouse, wild turkey and quail, as well as other varieties of pheasants, from November 1 to December 15. Previously the open season varied for this class of game and the new act makes it uniform. Raccoons, which previously were in the class of outlawed "varmits," are now protected as a game animal, and can only be killed during the months of September, October, November and December. Penalties, of course are provided for the violation of any of these laws.

Another game law is designed to give additional protection to waterfowl by limiting the number of decoys used in shooting, and prohibiting shoting such fowl before sunrise. An act relating to the taxation and licensing of dogs is also included in the game laws. This act requires dogs to wear collars and tags, the latter to be issued by the county comisioners. The tags are furnished to the tax collectors by the county commissioners, who give them out and collect the taxes on the dogs. It is the duty of any constable to kill all dogs not wearing tags.

Two laws designed for the further protection of fish were also enacted by the last Legislature, and bear Governor Tener's signature of approval. One of these is to prohibit the use a gill nets of more than thirty meshes deep in any of the lake waters of more than five thousand acres in extent over which the State has judisdiction. The other law provides that haul seine may be used in tidewater streams from September 1 to March 31. Meshes of such seine however, must not be less than three inches stretched measure while being fished, or one and one-half inches from knot to knot while being fished.

The first of the forestry acts is a measure to protect the State forest reserves. Penalties are provided to guard against damage of any sort to the forests purchased and set aside by the State and to protect the trees therein from damage and destruction. Penalties are imposed for violations of these laws.

Another forestry act empowers the Federal Government to acquire National forest reserves in the State with the right to regulate and control the same. There is also an act to protect shade and fruit trees growing along highways, streets or roads and one empowering the Department of Forestry to grant rights of way through State lands.

Still another important measure is an act to protect trees and woodland anywhere in the State from injury, destruction and removal. This embraces all private property, and stringent penalties are provided particularly to guard against fire. This law is a trespass law in effect where trespassers do damage to trees and forests of private owners.

The last two acts are specific. One is regarding the proposed purchase of forest reserves in Jefferson, Clarion and Forest counties, and providing for a commission to examine and report on the property in question. The other act is to provide efficient and practical means to control and eradicate the chestnue blight that is damaging and destroying the chestnut trees in the State.

A MATTER OF HEALTH.

State Commisioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon gives emphasis to the theory, "Do your Christmas shopping early," by a statement released to the press Sunday, in which he makes a practical declaration on the economic value of such a course on the standpoint of sanitation and personal health. Heretofore the health and well-being of the salespeople have been the chief point of consideration in the endeavor to induce people to make their Christmas purchase gradually and not at one fell swoop. Dr. Dixon, however, points out that the shopper also jeopardizes her health in the mad football rushes on the last days before Christmas, and runs a risk of infection form communicable diseases besides.

Those who remember when smallpox was an epidemic in the Pittsburg district some years ago will readily see how Dr. Dixon's advice is applicable. At that time the disease raged extensively in a mild form, and few of the doctors recognized it. The virulent type did not break out to any great extent until after the holidays, when it was no doubt spread widely by the crowds of Christmas shoppers. This danger, however, is not the worst. Crowding and excitement in vitiated atmosphere, clad in heavy wraps and sudden exposure to low temperature after leaving the stores while in a state of prespiration exposes the shopper to risks that are highly dangerous.

Those who must wait until the last pay day before making their Christmas purchases can carefully plan a list beforehand, and then do as Dr. Dixon suggests—shop early in the morning before the crowd becomes dense. Then, as he says, human vitality is strongest, and the mind is in better condition to decide upon what is wanted. In addition to helping out the salespeople and the merchants by shopping early, the shoppers will preserve their own health and well-being which in the aggregate is a big economic factor to society.

NO TARIFFTINKERING

It is being admitted now even by the leading Democrats of the nation that there will not be any tariff legislation in Congress before the coming Presidential election. The Democrats realize that many of their representatives in Congress are opposed to carelessly legislating on this important question. They also realize that during the recent extra session of Congress no satisfactory tariff measure was proposed on their side of Congress and that no satisfactory tariff legislation may be expected from them. Many of the members of their party are so radical as to be regarded as dangerous in framing legislation so important to the entire country.

On the other hand the Republicans in Congress are pledged to abide by the recommendation of the tariff board, a Republican proposition. That board was created by the Republicans. Its purpose is to take the tariff out of politics and to prevent regular and continual business disturbances through tariff agitation. The Democrats of course will refuse to listen to any recommendations made by the tariff board and President Taft, of course will refuse to approve any tariff legislation not in accord with the recommendations of that board.

It is safe to assume, therefore that there will be no tariff legislation by the next Congress and so encouraging is that thought that business is forging ahead and fairly booming notwithstanding the general fear of threatened tariff legislation.

Growth of Insanity.

Our strenuous life, high living and self-indulgence produce an increasing number of mentally defective each year. In every community of 279 persons in New York state there is one insane person. During the last decade insanity has grown faster than the population. At present there are 32,653 persons in New York state known to be insane, all except 150 of them being in state institutions. Doubtless there are hundreds besides, whose residence has been in this state, who are now in private sanitariums in adjacent states.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A local minister who when he hands in a notice for publication always presents it in neatly type-written copy in good English, was the other day complimented by the busy editor on the neatness of his copy, which required little if any editing. In reply the minister said:

"This is a matter I learned to appreciate early in my career. I used to hand in a bundle of notes scrawled on a slip of paper, merely giving dates or time and place of events, with every possible word or term abreviated. I noticed that my stuff got scant mention, and was always put in the least possible wording. At first I thought the editor had it in for me. One time I wanted something to appear in a more extended form, and I wrote it out carefully, complying with the style of the paper as nearly as I could and handed it in. I was extremely gratified to see my story appear verbatim. The next notice I handed in I wrote out as carefully as the first. It also appeared exactly as written. Since then I never have any trouble in getting what I want printed in the form desired. Of course I take care not to string my stuff out, as I have made somewhat of a study of the inside workings of newspaper offices, and I find by experience that anything a minister sends in will be given its full news value if written in good shape. But is the minister believes in letting the other fellow do the work his stuff will never get what he thinks it's worth."

"My father, who was a Scotchman, used to tell a story of how he was rewarded once when a small boy for returning to the owner a well filled pocketbook that had been lost," said a Charleroi business man. "The owner was an old Scotch farmer who was noted for his closeness. He advertised that he had lost his pocketbook and when my father found it he was in high glee, thinking he would get at least a shilling for the return of the lost property. Meeting the old farmer on the road while enroute to his residence, my father restored the missing pocketbook. Examining the contents to make sure they were intact, the old farmer said:

"Thank ye, ma lad. If ye happen ta be passin' oor farmhouse, step ye in an' I'll gi ye a gude drink of soor milk."

CHARLEROI MAN INJURED IN FALL AT BENTLEYVILLE

H. H. May of Charleroi who was employed to roof the Methodist church at Bentleyville nearly lost his life Saturday morning when he slipped on the roof and fell nearly 40 feet to the ground below.

He was picked up insensible and carried to a nearby residence. No bones were broken but it is feared that he suffered internal injuries of a serious nature The ground was very soft where May alighted and this it is believed, accounted for the fact that he had no broken bones. His wife was summoned from Charleroi.

Bubble Fountain Attracts.

One of the most attractive of the advertising features of the Brussels exposition is a soap bubble fountain, which has been designed and built by a prominent soap manufacturing concern of Europe. It is the only one in existence. It produces a continual flow of bubbles, delightfully colored, in which all the delicate hues of the rainbow are to be found. When illuminated at night the effect produced by the multi-colored electric lights completes a sight which appeals strongly to the artistic mind. The general appearance gives then the illusion of a flowing mass of sparkling diamonds. The fountain produces 17,600 bubbles a minute, and 25,344,000 bubbles are obtained from a pound of soap.

The Hand Losing Its Cunning.

We learn through a French paper that we are in danger of losing the use of our hands. The assertion is made by a medical authority, and a little reflection will lead us to pause before scouting this theory. Our hands in effect become less cunning and adroit through our availing ourselves of every mechanical appliance at our disposal. In times past women were skillful embroiderers and workers of lace, but the sewing machine has deteriorated the work of the hands and fingers, because, in the case of the mercenary worker, it renders a better return for her labor. By degrees the hands become stubborn, and in time, says the authority before cited, there will be nothing for the ten fingers to do.

The Cardinal's Coach.

A cardinal must not walk in the streets of Rome or in the populous districts beyond the walls. He goes in a closed carriage drawn by ambling and well-groomed black horses. Before the loss of the temporal power the carriages were scarlet, drawn by four or six horses, surmounted by a gilt railing resembling a crown. Valets and coachmen wore gorgeous liveries and three other carriages conveyed the secretaries and chaplains of his eminence. These equipages were laid down in 1870, and some of them may be seen taking farmers and their families to the Roman market. Vegetables are packed on the roof and where the valets stood behind.

Discouragement.

"So you have quit laughing at your wife's hats?" "Yes," replied Mr. Growcher. "The funnier they seem to me the more convinced she is that they must be correct in style."

Not to Be Improved On.

It was about 1720, at Amsterdam, that Fahrenheit made his first thermometer, which has served as a model ever since.

THANKSGIVING DISHES.

We like to have as much of the preparation for the feast day done before hand as possible. The turkey may be stuffed the day before and is greatly improved by standing, as it is better flavored with the seasoning.

The cranberry sauce may be made and molded the day before, and of course the mince meat has been prepared and the pumpkin pies may be made, so that on Thanksgiving there are less things to prepare and the time may be better used enjoying one's friends.

The dishes to be prepared should be carefully gone over as to cost; an elaborate dinner for one's friends that means pinching for a month to recuperate is not worth the expense of time, labor and money.

Celery may be washed and wrapped in a damp cloth and kept nicely for several days.

Cranberry frappe is a delicious way of serving the winter berry.

A salad which is both attractive and good to eat and one which may be prepared the day before is: Lettuce with Sherry's dressing.

Wash head lettuce and wrap in a towel, place in a cool place. When ready to serve pour over the following dressing, which will keep for two weeks or longer if kept in the ice box: Take two tablespoonfuls of chopped gren pepper, one tablespoonful of chopped red pepper, a tablespoonful of parsley chopped, half a small-sized Spanish onion, a quarter of a cup of vinegar, a tablespoonful of powdered sugar, a tablespoonful of salt, and three-fourths of a cup of the best olive oil. Shake in a pint mason jar for five minutes and let stand at least an hour before using.

The dinner may begin with a soup, a cocktail or with a canape, although none are necessary with a turkey dinner.

Interested in American System.

While visiting Vienna recently, the ex-shah of Persia, Mahomet Ali, devoted much time to the inspection of great business and manufacturing establishments, and on one of these tours, made under the guidance of a large manufacturer, and with little Prince Mahomet Mirza, they were joined at the office of a newspaper by an American with whom the ex-monarch entered into earnest conversation. He was deeply interested in what the American told him about commercial affairs in the United States, but what interested him most, said one of the party, was "our election system, as to which he made searching inquiry."

Like a Dream to Her.

Margaret Andoux, the Paris dressmaker, whose book has attracted the attention of great scholars all over the world, worked at her trade for the sum of 60 cents a day. She left the country and went to Paris with but a few cents in her pocket, and considered herself lucky to have arrived at the dignity of something over half a dollar a day wage. Her book, "Marie Claire," made her several thousand dollars, and now the poor dressmaker may rest from her labors for awhile.

THE REASONABLE WAY

Strong vigorous men, women and children hardly ever catch cold—it's only when your system is run down and vitality low that colds and coughs can get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cough is to build up your system again.

Mr. Patrick Wren of N. Birmingham, Ala., knows about this. He says, "I caught a bad cold a year ago and had a bad cough for a long time, but Vinol relieved it completely and built up my health. Vinol is the best medicine I ever used or heard of for coughs and colds."

This splendid cod liver and iron remedy does not smell or taste like cod liver oil, but is so delicious that children love to take it. Yet it has the strengthening value of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood-building iron.

Chronic bronchitis yields to Vinol because it builds up the system in all weakened and rundown conditions. You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not all we say. Piper Bros., Druggists, Charleroi, Pa.

CHARLEROI LOSES TO JOHNNIES

Fast Game Goes Wrong to Cherub Five on Johnstown Floor

LOCAL FIVE PLAY FAST

The Charleroi basketball team in the Central League was severely chastised Saturday night at Johnstown by Kinkaide's men. One of the fastest games of the season, the only troublesome thing to the Charleroi players was the score.

The first half, which ended 35 to 12, in favor of the locals, was decidedly fast and snappy with good playing, team-work and shooting, both teams featuring. The play throughout was the cleanest of the season. Johnstown outclassed its opponents in shooting, passing and team work and kept Charleroi on the defensive. Despite the big difference in the score, Charleroi put up a good game.

Charleroi opened strong in the second half and threatened to pass Johnstown but were prevented from any such act by the fine pasing and shooting of Johnstown's five. Lineup:

Johnstown—70		Charleroi—36
Fogarty	F.	.Adams
Newman .....F.	.....	J. Brown
Keenan .....C.	.....	Dolin
Wohlfarth-Pickells G.	.....	Pfeiffer

DONORA WINS GAME AND THE CHAMPIONSHIP

While 1,500 spectators shivered and watched and plowed through the mud in the wake of the combatants, the Donora Works and the Monessen All Stars football teams battled for gridiron supremacy, and incidentally a purse of $500, of the upper Monongahela valley Saturday afternoon. Donora won by a single touchdown made by its captain and quarterback, Roy Furlong, and was proclaimed champion.

Players wallowing in mud and the slippery ball giving animitation of an eel, the game progressed very unsatisfactorily so far as touchdowns were concerned. Several times the pigskin was advanced by the respective teams to their opponents goal line, but it was booted out again almost as soon as it made its appearance.

In the first quarter of the first half a bit of Donora lightning struck Monessen in the form of Roy Furlong. The ball eluded the grasp of just 20 graspers and lit in that of No. 22, which happened at that phychological moment to be Furlong. Fleet as the wind he broke away from the neighborly goal posts and with a shippriness equaled only by that of the ball, slid through the Monessen line like a shyster politician through the intricacies of the law. On and on he sped with a half dozen Monessen players clinging close to his heels Without being molested he succeded in reaching the Monessen goal line and planted the ball behind it and thereby won the game. During the rest of the struggle neither team could gain a lasting advantage and the struggle ended. Lineup:

Among The Passers

Somebody got their dope mixed down on the Pittsburg papers last week with the effect that Charleroi was given a better average than it should have had. Sunday's papers were right.

Washington will make its first appearance at Southside this week and will have a new man in their lineup, none other than Wright an easterner whom Johnstown has been after for three seasons.

The schedule this week will be:

Tuesday—Uniontown at Johnstown; Washington at Southside.

Wednesday—Southside at Connellsville; Uniontown at Charleroi.

Thursday—Thanksgiving Day—Southside at Washington, two games, afternoon and evening; Connellsville at Johnstown; Charleroi at Uniontown.

Friday—Southside at Charleroi; Johnstown at Connellsville.

Saturday—Johnstown at Southside; Connellsvilee at Washington.

Charleroi is outweighed by practically every team but speed considered we guess we can still hold the medal.
